Logitech Makes Home Security Smarter with the Google Assistant Integration

10/26/2017

Just Use Your Voice to Stream Your Circle 2 Camera Content on Your TV

LAUSANNE, Switzerland & NEWARK, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Today, Logitech (SIX:LOGN) (NASDAQ:LOGI) announced Circle 2 home security cameras now work with the Google Assistant on smart speakers like Google Home, eligible Android phones and iPhones, so you can easily ask to watch live video of what's happening in and around your home. Start by saying, "Ok Google, show me the backyard camera," to show a live view of your backyard on your TV using the Google Assistant and Chromecast, or a TV with Chromecast built in.

"We've worked with Google to make your home security smarter and even easier to access," said Vincent Borel, director of new ventures at Logitech. "Logitech Circle 2 seamlessly integrates with your favorite voice assistant so whether you're far from your mobile device and simply want to check who's at the door or prefer watching the camera live view on a larger screen, our newest integration with the Google Assistant truly enhances your Circle 2 security camera experience."

This latest integration with the Google Assistant works on all Circle 2 Cameras (Wired or Wire-Free), as well as the first generation Logi Circle, allowing you to watch live video of what's happening in and around your home directly on your TV. To access this experience, you must have a Chromecast or TV with Chromecast built in and the Google Assistant on your eligible Android phone, iPhone or smart speaker like Google Home. You can view any of your Circle 2 cameras just using your voice. For example, if your Circle 2 Camera is named "front door," you can say, "Ok Google, show me the front door camera."

The Logitech Circle 2 and the Google Assistant integration will continue to evolve, so people always have access to the latest smart home features and voice experiences they love. Availability

You can access the integration starting today in the US and in other countries soon. Logitech Circle 2 home security cameras along with mounts and accessories are available now and can be purchased at Logitech.com, Apple, Amazon and Best Buy. Circle 2 Wired is $179.99 and Circle 2 Wire-Free is $199.99.
