

THE WEEKND, BRUNO MARS, JACK WHITE, ARCTIC MONKEYS
TRAVIS SCOTT, THE NATIONAL, VAMPIRE WEEKEND AND ODESZA
TO HEADLINE LOLLAPALOOZA 2018

(Chicago, IL – March 21, 2018) Lollapalooza returns with another stellar lineup led by headliners The Weeknd, Bruno Mars, Jack White, Arctic Monkeys, Travis Scott, The National, Vampire Weekend and Odesza. Over 180 bands will return for four full days of music on eight stages, August 2-5 in Chicago's Grant Park. View the entire lineup at Lollapalooza.com.

Today's hottest talents including Logic, Post Malone, Khalid, Lil Uzi Vert, Portugal. The Man, and Tyler, The Creator round out the bill alongside strong female performances powered by St. Vincent, Dua Lipa, Camila Cabello, Lykke Li, Tash Sultana, Rezz, Lizzo and more. Brockhampton, Greta Van Fleet, Rainbow Kitten Surprise, Daniel Caesar, Billie Eilish and Rex Orange County represent this year's collection of fresh faces and up-and-coming talent.

This year's lineup will also feature special performances from Gucci Mane, LL Cool J and Perry Farrell's Kind Heaven, which will deliver an all-star lineup of guest musicians performing new music from Farrell's upcoming solo album due in the fall.

4-Day General Admission Tickets, 4-Day VIP Tickets, 4-Day Platinum Tickets and Official Hotel Packages are also available now at lollapalooza.com/tickets. 1-Day Tickets will be available soon.

Lollapalooza welcomes music fans of all ages, including kids. Children 10-years-old and younger will be admitted free of charge with a ticket-holding adult.

Fans worldwide who can't make it to Grant Park can watch The Official 2018 Lollapalooza Live

Broadcast on Red Bull TV, which is distributed digitally for free on the web at redbull.tv, connected TVs, smartphones and tablets as well as Lollapalooza.com. A full schedule of performances will be announced this summer on Lollapalooza.com.

Lollapalooza is generously sponsored by Bud Light, Tito's Handmade Vodka, Citi, Toyota, BMI, Fruit of the Loom, Cupcake Vineyards and Lifeway Kefir.

About Lollapalooza

Launched by founder Perry Farrell in 1991 as a touring festival, Lollapalooza remains an innovator in festival culture 27 years later. Lollapalooza was the first festival to bring together artists from a wide range of musical genres on one bill, it was also the first to travel, the first to expand to multiple days, the first to introduce a second stage, the first to blend art and activism, the first to offset its carbon emissions, the first to put electronic dance music artists on the main stage, the first to create family friendly programming, the first to make its home in an urban city center and the first to expand internationally.

Lollapalooza has grown into an annual world-class festival in Chicago (2005), as well as culturally rich countries including Chile, Argentina, Brazil, Germany and France. Lollapalooza is one of the premier destinations both for music fans in the United States and abroad. The festival expanded to four days in 2016 in celebration of 25 years and continues to bring fans four full days of music and over 180 bands on 8 stages. In 2017 Lollapalooza brought in over 245 million dollars in local economic impact and over 1.2 billion dollars in total, since 2010.

Lollapalooza is produced by Perry Farrell, William Morris Endeavor Entertainment, and C3 Presents.

###