Jacobs Engineering Group Inc.
Attachment to Form 8937 Report of Organizational Actions Affecting Basis of Securities
January __, 2018

Part II, 14

On December 15, 2017, a wholly owned subsidiary of Jacobs Engineering Group Inc., a Delaware corporation (“Jacobs”), merged (the “Merger”) with and into CH2M HILL Companies, Ltd., a Delaware corporation (“CH2M”), with CH2M surviving the Merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of Jacobs.

In the Merger, each share of CH2M common stock received per share consideration (the “Merger Consideration”), based on an election of the holder thereof and, in the case of CH2M shareholders electing to receive solely Jacobs stock, proration as a result of oversubscription, equal to (i) $52.85 in cash and 0.6677 shares of Jacobs common stock, (ii) $88.08 in cash or (iii) $41.52 in cash and 0.8824 shares of Jacobs common stock, subject to rounding described in the merger agreement and cash in lieu of fractional shares (described below) each of which may result in variances on a holder-by-holder basis.

No fractional shares of Jacobs common stock were issued in the Merger. CH2M shareholders who would otherwise have been entitled to receive a fraction of a share of Jacobs common stock (after aggregating all shares represented by the certificates and book-entry shares of CH2M delivered by such CH2M shareholder pursuant to the Merger) received cash, without interest, in lieu of any fractional shares.

Part II, 15

Jacobs believes that the receipt of Merger Consideration in exchange for CH2M common stock in the Merger was a taxable transaction for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Accordingly, a CH2M shareholder’s initial tax basis in any Jacobs common stock received in the Merger generally will equal its fair market value as of the effective time of the Merger.

Part II, 16

Fair market value generally is the price at which property would change hands between a willing buyer and a willing seller, neither being under any compulsion to buy or to sell and both having reasonable knowledge of the facts. U.S. federal income tax law does not specifically prescribe how former CH2M shareholders should determine the fair market value of the Jacobs common stock received in the Merger.

One possible method of determining the fair market value of one share of Jacobs common stock is to use the average of the opening and closing trading prices on the date of the Merger, which was $66.31.

Other methods for determining the fair market value of Jacobs common stock are possible. Former CH2M shareholders are not bound by the approach described above and may, in consultation with their tax advisors, use another approach.

Part II, 19

The Merger is reportable by each former CH2M shareholder in their tax year that includes December 15, 2017.

The information contained herein is being provided pursuant to Section 6045B of the Internal Revenue Code, and includes a general summary regarding the application of certain U.S. federal income tax laws and regulations to the Merger. The information contained herein is merely illustrative, does not constitute tax advice, and does not purport to be complete or to describe the consequences that may apply to particular categories of shareholders, including shareholders who held their CH2M common stock or hold their Jacobs common stock in retirement accounts or received any such stock as compensation.

Neither Jacobs nor CH2M provides tax advice to its shareholders. All former CH2M shareholders are urged to consult their own tax advisors regarding the particular consequences of the Merger to them, including the applicability and effect of all U.S. federal, state and local and foreign tax laws.

For further details about the Merger, please see the proxy statement/prospectus filed by CH2M with the Securities and Exchange Commission and dated November 9, 2017, including the section captioned "Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Merger."
