FREMONT, Calif., Sep 03, 2009 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- You're a 21st century music lover but your stereo is stuck in the 20th century. To help bring the digital world into your home, Logitech (SIX:LOGN) (NASDAQ:LOGI) today unveiled the Logitech Squeezebox\(TM\) Radio Wi-Fi music player and the Logitech Squeezebox\(TM\) Touch Wi-Fi music player. Both Logitech Squeezebox Wi-Fi music players give people simple, intuitive access to a wide variety of music choices including free Internet radio, personal digital music files and music subscription services.

"Digital music and the Internet have radically changed how we discover, share and listen to the music we love," said Sam Feng, product marketing director of Logitech's Streaming Media business unit. "Now, millions of people are downloading music through iTunes(R) and listening to Internet radio stations and music services and our newest Logitech Squeezebox Wi-Fi music players bring it all together. Just plug one in and you can be ready to discover and enjoy music from around the world."

Logitech Squeezebox Radio - Small Package, Big Sound

The Internet has changed everything, including your radio. With the Logitech Squeezebox Radio, you'll get the simplicity of old-fashioned radio with the power of the Internet wherever you want to listen to music.

Unlike other complex Wi-Fi music systems, Squeezebox Radio sets up easily. You just plug it in, turn it on, connect to your home network and like magic, you've got access to a world of music - Internet radio, your personal music collection including DRM-free iTunes Plus downloads, and subscription services such as Napster(R), Pandora(R), Rhapsody(R), SIRIUS(R), and Last.fm(TM). And the Squeezebox Radio's color screen can display album art, track and station information, visualizers and more.

With six preset buttons located on the side of the display, the Squeezebox Radio makes it easy to enjoy your favorite song, Internet radio station or playlist at the touch of a button. With automatic brightness adjustment and a built-in alarm clock, the Logitech Squeezebox Radio is even ideal for your bedside table. And if you want to listen to music in private, a 3.5 mm jack lets you plug in your headphones.

At just 5.12 inches (130 mm) by 8.66 inches (220 mm) by 5.04 inches (128 mm), the compact design makes the Squeezebox Radio ideal for your living room, kitchen, bedroom - even your patio. While it's a space-saver, the Squeezebox Radio still delivers clear sound with minimal distortion - no extra speakers required - thanks to the 3/4-inch high-definition, soft-dome tweeter and 3-inch high-power, long-throw woofer.

For your convenience, a rechargeable battery pack (sold separately) will let you move the Squeezebox Radio around your home without interrupting the music. The battery can power your Squeezebox Radio for up to six hours and recharges automatically when it's plugged in.

Logitech Squeezebox Touch - Color Touch Screen Puts Music at Your Fingertips

So you can seamlessly discover a world of music and play it through the stereo system you already own, the Logitech Squeezebox Touch Wi-Fi music player has a stunning 4.3-inch color touch screen that lets you easily select and play music - and even view album art. Plus, to provide a better listening experience, the Squeezebox Touch supports sampling rates of up to 24 bits at 96 kHz, delivering rich sound with very little distortion. Simply plug in the Squeezebox Touch to your existing speakers, connect to your home network and you're ready to rock out. An included USB port and SD card slot on the back of the Squeezebox Touch also lets you access music and photos stored on flash drives and memory cards.

To put control within reach, a wall-mount bracket (sold separately) lets you put your Squeezebox Touch at eye level - near the stereo, over your kitchen table or wherever you want convenient control of your music. With the optional Logitech Squeezebox Touch Wall-Mount Bracket, the power cord and speaker wires can be run inside your walls so cords or cables aren't dangling from your Squeezebox.

Streamlined Interface, Facebook App and Flickr Support

The intuitive Squeezebox interface was designed for speed and convenience. The color display found on the Squeezebox Radio and Squeezebox Touch help you quickly locate your favorite radio stations, playlists or music services. And, with its redesigned menu system, you can easily choose from a variety of applications to enhance your listening experience.

Plus, if you're a Facebook fan, you can share music recommendations, as well as check out your friends' statuses, recommendations, and full-color photos right on your new Squeezebox. Photo slide shows from the popular photo-sharing site Flickr are also supported on both new Squeezebox Wi-Fi music players.

The Squeezebox Family

Both the Logitech Squeezebox Radio and Logitech Squeezebox Touch can seamlessly integrate into your existing Wi-Fi or Ethernet-based home network, as well as with the Squeezebox family of products, which includes the award-winning Logitech Squeezebox(TM) Boom Wi-Fi music player, Logitech Squeezebox(TM) Duet Wi-Fi music player, and the audiophiles' choice, the Logitech Transporter(R) Wi-Fi music player.

All of the products in the Squeezebox family work together so it's easy to expand your system. Simply add additional Squeezebox Wi-Fi media players to any room you like and then you can listen to one song throughout your entire home - perfect for a party - or enjoy a different song in every room.
