Logitech to Ask Shareholders to Approve One-Time Dividend

Estimated Payout of CHF 0.81 Per Share

NEWARK, Calif. & MORGES, Switzerland--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Logitech International (SIX: LOGN) (Nasdaq: LOGI) today announced that its board of directors will ask shareholders to approve a one-time dividend, distributed out of capital contribution reserves. The total amount may not exceed CHF 125,650,814. Logitech will ask for the vote at the Company's annual general meeting in Lausanne, Switzerland on Sept. 5, 2012.

The estimated amount per share is CHF 0.81, based on 156 million dividend-bearing shares outstanding as of June 30, 2012. Dividend-bearing shares include all shares issued, except for treasury shares held by Logitech International S.A., as of the record date, which is expected to be Sept. 17, 2012. The approximate payment date for the dividend is expected to be Sept. 18, 2012.

"Historically, we rewarded our shareholders with strong financial performance and growth in our share price," said Guerrino De Luca, Logitech chairman and chief executive officer. "In FY 2012, we delivered poor financial performance and our share price declined significantly. In view of this, we determined that we could best reward our shareholders by taking advantage of our strong cash position to offer a one-time distribution that is not subject to Swiss withholding tax for any of our shareholders."

Logitech intends to file its preliminary proxy statement, which includes additional information regarding this proposal, with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and post it on the Company's website at <http://ir.logitech.com> on July 10, 2012.
