New contract means its hospitals and select providers are now in network for all Humana Medicare Advantage members

PENSACOLA, Fla.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Baptist Health Care, a premier health and human services system in northwest Florida, and Humana Inc. (NYSE: HUM), one of the nation's leading health and well-being companies, have signed a new contract that provides in-network access for Humana Medicare Advantage members.

The agreement to participate in the Humana Medicare Advantage HMO and PPO networks, which became effective July 1, includes all three of Baptist Health Care's hospitals – Baptist Hospital, Gulf Breeze Hospital and Jay Hospital. It also includes Andrews Institute for Orthopaedic & Sports Medicine and all Baptist Medical Group, Baptist Physician Group and Cardiology Consultants specialty providers.

In addition, the agreement to participate in the Humana Medicare Advantage PPO network includes select Baptist Medical Group primary care practices located throughout Escambia and Santa Rosa counties.

"We're pleased to expand our northwest Florida network to include Baptist Health Care," said Humana Central and North Florida Medicare President Deb Galloway. "Baptist Health Care is an important part of our strategy to offer our current and prospective Medicare members a robust network of top quality healthcare providers."
