Offers Enhanced Executive Level Control of Multiple Data Room Projects

CHICAGO, May 1, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- R. R. Donnelley & Sons Company (Nasdaq:RRD) today introduced its new Venue Executive Suite, which provides enhanced functionality to the intuitive Venue data room interface. This new offering provides clients who use multiple Venue data rooms with a higher level of control by affording them even more powerful cross-project management and reporting functionality.

"Our innovation pipeline is focused on bringing every client segment that we serve best-in-class digital offerings, backed by a superb service organization. With the release of the Venue Executive Suite we believe Venue to be the most compelling virtual data room solution available," said Tom Juhase, President of RR Donnelley's Financial Services offering.

RR Donnelley provides a complete range of communications, translations, compliance and other services for capital markets and other segments from offices internationally.

"Venue's rapidly growing roster of users tell us that compliance and transparency are among their highest priorities," explained Craig Clay, Executive Vice President. "We developed the Venue Executive suite with the tools necessary to manage users and content across multiple data room projects as well as with capabilities for delving deeper into user behavior through cross-project reporting features."

Venue secure virtual data rooms are used to facilitate a variety of transactions, including M&A, IPOs, record keeping for private equity and facilitating pre-clinical trial communications between life science companies and the FDA for patient recruitment approval.

"The Venue Executive Suite further streamlines processes by providing clients with the ability to add or remove users, move or copy documents and audit project settings - at one time, in one place and in the most efficient fashion possible," added Clay.
