

Society6 featured in The New York Times

The New York Times

Back to School Shopping Made Easy

Send your kids to school with A+ supplies that will last the year through. We worked with the experts at Wirecutter to compile this list of essentials that'll make shopping for school supplies a breeze.

The New York Times &  wirecutter

The Perfect School Supply Pouch

$15

Whether it's pencils, scissors or glue, school supplies of any size can be stored in these pouches from Society 6. They come in three sizes and myriad patterns and colors, and are an ideal container for the sophisticated student. The biggest can even hold a tablet.

Shivani Vora, Lifestyle Writer

BUY NOW

Scissors Safe for Little Hands

$13

For scissors sharp enough to cut through paper but dull enough to avoid stabbing injuries, reach for Fiskars Blunt-tip Kids Scissors. They have a larger-than-average grip, allowing kids to fit an extra finger in the handle for added control.

Jamie Wiebe, former Senior Researcher, Wirecutter

BUY NOW

An Affordable Classic

$3

The Five Star has the best paper we've found in a spiral notebook for less than $5, and it handles heavy abuse (we dropped several down stairs and soaked them in water). Since it's both perforated and hole punched, kids can remove pages and snap them into a binder.

Tim Barribeau, Editor, Wirecutter

BUY NOW

To view the entire story, visit:

<https://www.nytimes.com/guides/gifts/back-to-school-supplies>