Werner Global Logistics Hosts Sixth Annual International Shippers Networking Event

4/24/2014

OMAHA, Neb.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Apr. 24, 2014-- Werner Global Logistics, a subsidiary of premier transportation and logistics provider Werner Enterprises (NASDAQ: WERN), hosted its sixth annual International Shippers Networking Event April 23 in Valley, Neb.

Craig Stoffel, vice president of Global Logistics, said the numerous complex disciplines of international business – including supply chain management, trade financing, risk management and legal and regulatory compliance – can change throughout the year, which makes it vital for key companies from throughout the region to share best practices.

“It’s important for members of the international shipping community to have a forum to discuss the specific challenges we face as an industry,” said Stoffel, who served as the event’s emcee. “Werner Global Logistics is proud to provide a collaborative environment that allows international importers, exporters and industry experts the opportunity to explore these issues and brainstorm potential solutions that will help propel their businesses to the next level.”

During the event, Stoffel provided an update on Werner’s continued commitment to lead the industry with its green initiatives, which includes adding 10 CNG (Compressed Natural Gas) trucks to its fleet; highlights from their recent attendance at the Trans-Pacific Maritime Conference; Werner’s recent cross-border partnership with a rail provider; and the company’s expanded domestic capacity in the China market.
