Werner Enterprises Recognized by Fortune on the 2011 World's Most Admired Companies List

3/4/2011

OMAHA, Neb., Mar 04, 2011 (BUSINESS WIRE) --

For the second consecutive year, Werner Enterprises (NASDAQ: WERN), a premier transportation and logistics provider, has been recognized by Fortune magazine in its annual list of the World's Most Admired Companies. The ranking was based on survey results that evaluated companies in nine key areas: innovation, people management, use of corporate assets, social responsibility, quality of management, financial soundness, long-term investment, quality of products and services, and global competitiveness.

"Being recognized on Fortune's World's Most Admired Companies list is a great honor, and it underscores Werner Enterprises' dedication to being financially sound and continuously investing in and developing our organization," said Derek Leathers, chief operating officer of Werner Enterprises and president of Werner Global Logistics. "This is a testament to our hard-working associates, state-of-the-art technology and diverse portfolio of services, and it further demonstrates our ongoing commitment to excellence in the global transportation and logistics industry."

Fortune's World's Most Admired Companies list for 2011 surveyed 673 organizations, and only 12 transportation and logistics companies made the final World's Most Admired Companies list. The listing will be published in the March 7 issue of Fortune magazine. The survey was conducted by Hay Group and began with approximately 1,400 companies that were chosen from the Fortune 1000 listing, non-U.S. companies in Fortune's Global 500 database with revenue of at least $10 billion and the top foreign companies operating in the U.S.
